

Class of 2025

You are required to engage in some form of recognised study or training until your 18th birthday. This may include Apprenticeships and Traineeships, but you cannot enter full-time employment directly.

Upon receiving your GCSE results, you will have numerous options to consider in terms of education, training, or entering the workforce.

A Levels

- Advanced level qualifications, known as A Levels, are subject-based qualifications that can lead to university, further study, training, or work.

Vocational Qualifications

- GCSEs do not necessarily have to lead to A Levels. You might find that vocational qualifications such as BTECs and T-levels are a preferable alternative, as they offer a practical route into a career involving hands-on learning.

Apprenticeships

- Apprenticeships provide an opportunity to earn a salary, gain practical experience, and work towards a qualification simultaneously.
